Surname variations include: Collin, Collins, Colins, Collens, Collince, Collings, Coollens.

First Generation

1. Henry¹ COLLINS, Senior was born circa 1606 in Stepney Parish, Middlesex, England^[1,2,3]. He was 29 when he came over in 1635 and also was deposed in November 1662 "aged about fifty-five years". Henry died in Lynn, Essex co., MA in 1687; he was 81, as "Collins, Henry, sr., grandfather of Henry, 3rd". He was buried on 20 February 1686/7 in the Old or Western Burying Ground, Lynn, Essex County, MA^[1,4].

Henry Sr., age 29, and wife Ann, age 30, emigrated on the Abigail with their three children Henry Jr., age 5; John, age 3; and Margery, age 2. They sailed from Plymouth, England on 1 August 1635 and arrived in Boston, Suffolk co., MA on 8 October 1635. They were infected with smallpox when they arrived. They all had certificates of conformity from the minister of Stepney, as did their four servants: Joshua Griffith, Hugh Alley, Mary Roote and Jo[h]n Coke. Geo[rge] Burdin may or may not have also been a servant^[2,28,29].

He was listed as a starchmaker on his emigration records, but became a husbandman or yeoman in Lynn. An educated man, he signed his name as a witness in June 1676 and his estate included "some books & a Bible"^[5,6].

The family immediately settled in Lynn, Essex co., MA. In the 1638 Land Distribution there, he was granted "uplands and meadow, 80 acres and ten" -- one of the larger allotments, indicating he had contributed a great deal of money to the settlement of the town^[30]. His home was on Essex Street.

On 1 September 1654, Daniel King of Lynn, gentleman, and his "now wife" Elizabeth sold to "Henry Collens Sr. of the same town and county, husbandman," ten acres of fresh meadow and six acres of land and ten acres that were old Goodman Fitch's and four more acres of fresh marsh^[31]. On 14 March 1671/2, "Henry Collings, Sr., of the town of Lynn,... Yeoman," sold to Andrew Mansfield 5-1/2 acres in Reedy Meadow^[32,33].

Henry took the Oath of Freeman on 9 March 1637 in Lynn, Essex co., MA^[7,8,9] and became a valued member of the Lynn community. He served on the Essex petit jury on 24 June 1637, 26 December 1637, 31 December 1639, 29 September 1640, 25 January 1641/2, 26 December 1643, 28 December 1647, 26 December 1648, 24 June 1656, 30 June 1657, 26 June 12660 and 23 May 1660^[32,34]. He served on the Grand Jury on 30 December 1645, 31 December 1650, 24 June 1651, 30 November 1663, 28 November 1665, 29 November 1667, 29 November 1670, 26 November 1672, 24 November 1674, 20 July 1675, 25 November 1679^[32,35]. He was a Member of the Salem Court in 1639.

Henry further was appointed Selectman for the town of Lynn on 31 March 1661, 4 February 1662/3, and 23 November 1666^[32,36]. He was appointed Lynn Constable on 12 July 1642 and in June 1667^[37]; served on the Committee to authorize the felling of trees on 15 May 1671^[38] and was appointed Tithingman on 26 June 1677^[32,39].

Robert Anderson describes Henry's frequent appearances in court: "Henry Collins was frequently a witness in court, probably in his capacity as constable of Lynn^[10]. He helped appraise the estate of Edmund Ingalls of Lynn in 1648^[11], William Tilton of Lynn in 1653^[12], William Harker in 1661^[13], George Farr in 1662^[14], Richard Johnson of Lynn in 1666^[15] and John Humphreys in 3 July 1663^[16].

To satisfy a debt of the town of Lynn, the marshal, Robert Lord, went to the house of Henry Collins and attempted to collect the debt. Witness Edward Ierson deposed that 'Collins told the marshal that the debt was not his, and that he should go and take the common, and the marshal said if Collins paid it, the town should pay him back. Then Collins told him that he should have twenty acres of his own land about his house, or he said, 'here is the town common before my door, take that for your satisfaction,' all of which the marshal refused^[17]. Collins was arrested and the marshal attempted to take him to jail, but the neighbors would not help him, and even hindered him, as John Hathorne did, saying hat 'the marshal was a lying, prating fool and knave, and would prove him so^[17]. The court found for Robert Lord, with no visible penalty to Collins^[18], but repercussions for years later appear in the form of minor court cases^[19].

On 7 April 1681, Henry Collins brought slander charges against an intemperate neighbor, 'being desirous to vindicate the suffering name of God and mine own innocency and honesty, which is highly defamed by obscene and slanderous speeches divulged by John Davis of Lynn and his wife to the blurring my reputation among Christians in reporting that jurisdiction having provided that no person's good name or reputation should causelessly be defamed, I do therefore seriously apply myself to your honors to take such a course whereby God's glory and my suffering name may be vindicated^[20]. There is no record of the court's decision.

Henry was still deposing in court as late as November 1682, when he described laying out several farms in Lynn 1637^[21]..."^[22]

Henry Senior's will is dated 10 February 1686/7 [Suffolk Probate 1532].

"In his will, dated 11 February 1686/7 and proved 31 March 1687, 'Henry Collins, Senior, of Lynn, aged 82 or thereabouts, being weak and infirm in body' confirmed the gifts of land given to 'my own natural children or those that stand related to me by marriage with any of my daughters' including 'my son Johnson upon marriage with my daughter'; 'my dear and loving wife, who hath ever been tender of my and industrious in her place in procuring what outward estate God hath bestowed upon us' to receive the benefit of all the housing and lands; 'my movables, chattels, cattle, etc. 'at her disposal to either 'my own children or my grandchildren as she shall see cause at her decease'; after wife's decease, lands and meadows wheresoever divided equally 'among my three sons, Henry, Joseph and Benjamin, only my eldest son Henry have 30 pounds worth of land more'; to 'my son Benjamin,' ten acres of land in my planting field'; to 'my daughter Margery,' £30; to 'my daughters Hannah and Elizabeth,' £20 a piece; 'as for my son John deceased his portion he received in his life time and so that his children do greatly and peaceably enjoy the same'; 'my children' to be dutiful and tender to 'their aged mother'; 'my loving wife and eldest son, Henry Collins,' executors; 'Mr. Oliver Purchase and Mr. Jeremiah Shepard' overseers^[23].

The inventory of the estate of 'Henry Collins Senior of Lynn,' presented 31 March 1687, totalled £474 10s., of which £406 was real estate: 'The dwelling house and barn with all other housing with the orchard and land therein,' £70; 'land, upland and pasture land, meadow salt and fresh,' £315; and '80 acres of wilderness land up in the country so-called but sold, £21^[24].

On 13 December 1687, 'Ann Collins of Lyn..., widow and relict of Henry Collins Sr. of Lynn, deceased and Henry Collins, no Senior of Lyn Aforesaid, son of Ann Collins aforesaid, executors to the last will and testament of Henry Collins Senior deceased,' confirm to Thomas Bancroft Senior of Lynn the sale of 'a certain parcel of land containing twenty acres by estimation situate and being in Lyn bounds up in the country so-called'^[25] On 31 December 1687, 'Ann Collins of lyn..., widow and relict of Henry Collins Sr. of Lynn, deceased, and Henry Collins, now Senior of Lyn aforesaid, son of Ann Collins aforesaid, executors to the last will and testament of Henry Collins Senior deceased,' confirm to John Bankecroft of Lynn the sale of 'a certain parcel of land containing twenty acres y estimation situate and being in Lyn bounds up[in the country so-called'^[26] The dates on these two deeds raise the suspicion that one of them was recorded incorrectly , and that both instruments were in fact executed on the same day..."^[27]

Before 1629 when Henry was 23, he married Ann RIAL/ROYAL, in St. Dunstan, Stepney Parish, Middlesex, England^[1,40,41,42,43,44,45,46,47,48,49,50,51,52].

They had the following children:

Family of Henry COLLINS, Senior (1) & Ann RIAL/ROYAL

2. Henry² COLLINS, Jr. (Henry¹) was born on 29 October 1629 in Stepney Parish, Middlesex, England^[56] and baptized in St. Dunstan, Stepney, London, England on 4 November 1629^[58,59]; "...at 5 days old, 'son of Henry Collins of Ratcliff Highway, starchmaker & Anne uxor'..". Henry died in Lynn, Essex County, MA on 14 October 1722; as the "father of Henry, 3rd" - aged 92 years^[57].

Henry, Jr. migrated to America with his parents aboard the Abigail, sailing from England to Boston in June of 1635; he was 5 years old^[2,61]. Henry, Jr. was a carpenter by trade, could not write his name and signed with a mark on land deeds^[5,53]. He was known as "Henry, Jr." until the death of his father, when he became "Henry, Sr." At his death, he was noted as the "father of Henry, 3rd."

Henry, Jr. took the Oath of Freeman on 18 April 1691^[60] in Lynn, Essex co., MA, where he lived throughout his life. On 6 November 1663, Henry Collins, Jr. and his brother John Collins "Carpenters" bought for 50 pounds sterling, from Robert Rand, 9 acres of land, including a house and orchard. The deed was recorded at Salem on 17d:10m(December):1667^[62].

On 7 April 1692, Henry -- now called "Senior" -- Collins and his wife Mary, gave by deed to his son, Henry -- formerly "3rd", but now called "Junior" -- 10 acres of land "on which son Henry's house now stands" bounded by Chadwell's lot, Henry Senior's lot and the county highway. Included, too, were three acres of salt marsh that Henry bought from Captain Thomas Marshall, bordered by Laughtons's Lane and Pines River^[63]. On 27 Nov 1694, Henry -- still called "Senior" -- made an agreement with his brothers Joseph and Benjamin to divide the lands that their father had given them in common. Henry received 28 acres.

He was appointed Constable of Lynn, Essex co., MA in 1691; Fence Viewer in 1693/4; Surveyor of Highways in 1696-1698, Collector of Rates in 1697 and Selectman thereafter. At a town meeting of Lynn on 26 September 1717, Henry Collins was allowed to enlarge his pew in the church:

"Whereas a pew formerly granted to Henry Collins Jr and the town now being informed he had given the same to his sons, Henry Collins, Eleazer Collins, and his sons in law, viz. Moses Hudson and John Newhall amongst them and there being 4 families, therefore voted; that said Henry Collins, Eleazer Collins, Moses Hudson and John Newhall hath liberty to enlarge that pew beginning at the back part of the "sque" next the window and so upon a square formed so far as to leave a suitable allowance as the Committee for the Meeting House shall order and to maintain the windows against it."^[64]

No will for Henry Collins, Jr. is on file in either the Essex or Suffolk County Probate Courts.

Circa 1650/1651 when Henry was 20, he married Mary TOLMAN, daughter of Thomas TOLMAN, Sr. & Sarah [surname not known], in Lynn, Essex County, MA or Dorchester, Suffolk County, MA^[40,45,49,65].
