Brother, Can You Spare A Dime?

Words & Music: Edgar "Yip" Harburg & Jay Gorney

These notes are from the unknown transcriber of this tune: "[This song is] from the third (1932) edition of the hit Broadway revue "Americana". Edgar "Yip" Harburg (1898-1981) was a former electrician made bankrupt during the Depression. Jay Gorney (1896-1990) was a Russian-born American composer, author and Hollywood film-producer." I need the chords to the intro!

INTRO:
They used to tell me I was building a dream, and so I followed the mob.
When there was earth to plow, or guns to bear, I was always there right on the job.
They used to tell me I was building a dream, with peace and glory ahead.
Why should I be standing in line, just waiting for bread?

Once I built a railroad, now it's done. Brother, can you spare a dime?
Once I built a tower up to the sun, brick and rivet and lime.
Once I built a tower, now it's done. Brother, can you spare a dime?
